

Germans Made Lamp Shades Out Of Human Beings' Skin

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Nuernberg, Dec. 13 (P)—A preserved human head and lamp shades made of human skin were presented as evidence of atrocities in Nazi concentration camps at the war crimes trial of 21 top German war leaders today.

The grisly exhibits were added to the Germans' own records of murder and brutality placed, before the four-power International military tribunal by Allied prosecutors charging the once-powerful Nazi warlords with "crimes against humanity."

The preserved human head, shrunk to the size of a baseball and resembling the war trophy of an aboriginal head hunter, was that of a Pole who had been caught fraternizing with a German girl.

Picked Tattooed Skin

The three pieces of human skin tanned into parchment for lampshades for the wife of SS Standartenfuehrer Koch came from victims at Buchenwald selected because of their "artistic" tattooing, according to an affidavit by a former inmate of the concentration camp.

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, alone of all the defendants, remained unmoved. The others averted their eyes but from time to time stole glances at the barbaric trophies.

The "death ledgers" of the Mauthausen concentration camp recorded the deaths of more than 35,000 inmates from 1939 to 1945. On March 19, 1945, 203 persons died in 12 hours, the records showed.

Mauthausen was the camp where Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent, according to available evidence, was executed last winter on the signed order of secret police chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner, one of the 21 defendants. An American army investigator declared that the camp "was conducted with the sole purpose in mind of exterminating any so-called prisoner who entered within its walls."

13 'Chutists Hanged

Another report said 13 American and British parachutists were hanged at the Flossenbuerg concentration camp after their capture.

A statement from a Budapest Zionist leader disclosed that Hungarian Jews who were too young or too old to serve as slave laborers were automatically consigned to death in concentration camp gas chambers.

American prosecutors, supporting the charge against 21 Nazi leaders of "crimes against humanity," introduced the affidavit of Rudolph Kastner, leader of a Hungarian Zionist organization, reporting SS troops seized 475,000 Hungarian Jews in 1944 and transported them to the Reich in "death trains."

"Children up to the age of 12 or 14 and older people above 50 as well as the sick or people with criminal records were taken immediately on their arrival (at Osswieicin concentration camp) to the gas chambers," Kastner declared in his affidavit.

"The others passed before an SS doctor who, on sight, indicated who was fit for work and who was not. Those unfit were sent to the gas chambers while the others distributed in various labor camps."

SCOUTS WILL GATHER PAPER

The four Gettysburg Boy Scout troops will conduct their December collection of paper here Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock. Four trucks will be used with scouts from one of the troops manning each vehicle. Every street in town will be covered.

The boys are asked to meet at the engine house at 1 p.m. The trucks are being furnished by the Gettysburg Water company, Morris Gittin, the Gettysburg Gas corporation, and the Williams coal yards.

Only paper is being gathered this month but all types of waste paper—newspaper, magazines, books, wrapping paper—excepted oiled paper are acceptable. Residents are asked to tie the paper in bundles and place them in front of their residences to facilitate the work of the scouts.

The proceeds from the sale of the waste paper will be divided among the four participating troops—Troop 79 of St. James Lutheran church, Troop 77, sponsored by the Rotary and Lions clubs; Troop 80 of Christ Lutheran church and Troop 78 of the Catholic church.

Rites Friday For Miss Kalbfleisch

Funeral services for Miss Eleanor Kalbfleisch, 75, who died at the Haines Convalescent home, West York, Tuesday evening from a complication of diseases, will be held at the Bender funeral home Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh.

The remains will be cremated and later interred in the family lot in Evergreen cemetery.

AUMEN RETIRES AS PRESIDENT OF FIRE COMPANY; COLE IS NAMED

Declining to serve for a twelfth consecutive year as president of the Gettysburg Fire company, James B. Aumen, a veteran of 43 years of service with the company, withdrew his name from nomination before balloting began Wednesday evening at the annual election and Richard M. Cole, East Stevens street, was named to the office. Donald C. Stall-smith also withdrew as a presidential nominee leaving Cole unopposed. Mr. Aumen, who is treasurer of the Pennsylvania State Firemen's association, secretary of the Gettysburg lodge of the Eagles and county probation officer among other duties, was for many years the local fire chief.

Mr. Cole's election broke up a father and son combination that headed the local company for the last nine years. James A. Aumen, only son of Mr. Aumen, was re-named chief for his tenth consecutive year.

Don Jacobs Named

George Bushman was named company vice president; Raymond E. Menges, recording secretary; George D. March, financial secretary; and Joseph E. Codori, treasurer.

Raymond Bisbing was named first assistant chief and Donald Jacobs, recently returned from Pacific duty with the Seabees, was re-elected to the office of second assistant chief, the post he held before he entered the service. Jacobs was nominated last month, before he was out of th service.

Other officers chosen Wednesday evening follow: Representative to the Southeastern association, Alvin Bubb; representative to the state association, Harvey Yingst; chaplain, Clarence Shultz, and drillmaster, Raymond Bisbing. Bisbing also was recommended to the borough council for appointment for another term as borough fire marshal.

Paul Ecker, East Stevens street, was elected to membership in the company.

Drop Plan for History

Raymond Menges, chairman of the committee in charge of the pre-Thanksgiving party at the engine house, reported the project netted $703.19.

The committee named sometime ago to arrange for publication of a history of the company reported through its chairman, D. C. Stallsmith. The group's recommendation

Capt. Barach Helped Secure Pre-Invasion Data On Foe

Captain Maxwell Barach, who recently returned home from the P-40, was attached to the 117th Photo Intelligence Team, which has since been deactivated.

Captain Barach joined the 117th Photo Intelligence Team, the first unit of its kind sent to the south Pacific, when it was organized in December 1943. In March 1944, the unit left the United States and landed in New Caledonia where it was assigned to the 40th Infantry Division. Moving to Guadalcanal the group was given additional training by the Army Air Force Photo Intelligence Detachment.

The next move was to New Britain and their first combat work. There they interpreted aerial photos for

Six More Veterans File Discharges

The following Adams county servicemen have filed their discharges for recording at the court house:

Pfc. Harold Thomas McElroy, Sr., from the marines; Pvt. Lester R. Shultz, 226 Chambersburg street; Pfc. Edward A. Rommell, Biglerville; Second Lt. George M. Wildasin, Abbottstown; Torpedoman's Mate 3/c Martin Murtoff Reed, from the navy and Gunner's Mate 3/c Homer Hafer, from the navy.

VFW POST WILL TAKE OVER HOME IN NEAR FUTURE

Plans were made Wednesday evening by members of the Gettysburg Post No. 15 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for full operation of their newly-acquired home on Carlisle street "at the earliest possible date." The post members held their first informal meeting in the home to which they took title last Saturday.

A special meeting will be held soon, it was announced by John W. Hewitt, post adjutant, to prepare for incorporation of the post and to adopt by-laws and form a home association. The former owners of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, now occupy two rooms on the second floor but soon will give the post members full possession of the home at the corner of Carlisle and East Stevens street.

It is expected that the Ladies Auxiliary of the post will begin holding their meetings in the Carlisle street home. At present they convene at the IOOF hall on Chambersburg street.

Now Have 261 Members

Members were present at the meeting from Fairfield, Orrtanna, Cashtown, Biglerville, Arentsville, Aspers, Gardners, York Springs, East Berlin, Abbottstown, New Oxford, Bonneauville, Barlow and Two Towns.

Veterans of three wars—the Spanish-American, World War I and World War II—were represented at the meeting.

The post now has 261 members. The following list of new members includes those received from November 23 until last night's meeting:

Commander William Eckenrode, presided at the meeting.

2 COUNTIANS ENROUTE HOME

From Pearl Harbor comes word that SC 1/c Allen M. Sprangle, husband of Mrs. Lillian V. Sprangle, 11½ Chambersburg street, is on his way home. Sprangle is one of 600 high-point navy men whom the "Magic Carpet" is bringing back to the states aboard the USS Holland.

The fugitive is described as being 24 years of age, six feet tall, weighing 185 pounds, light brown hair, wearing a brown suit, gray overcoat and an army shirt bearing sergeant's stripes. State police said they do not know the man's status with regard to the armed forces.

The Hollandia, one of more than 250 carriers, battleships, cruisers and attack transports in the navy's famed "Magic Carpet" fleet, left Saipan November 29, and is scheduled to arrive in San Diego about December 19. Its passengers will go to separation centers nearest their homes for discharge to civilian life.

Another Adams countian to return is Momm 2/c Harold R. Baltzley, wife of Mrs. Mary J. Baltzley, Bendersville. He left Guam aboard the USS Cowpens, another of the "Magic Carpet" fleet, November 29, and was scheduled to arrive in San Francisco about December 11. The Cowpens is bringing 1,362 high-point navy veterans back to the States from Pacific service.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. McGlaughlin, Fairfield R. 2, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner hospital this morning.

A son was born at the hospital Wednesday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kunkel, Biglerville R. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hollinger, South Queen street, Littlestown, announce the birth of a daughter at the Hanover General hospital Wednesday.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued at the court house today to Fred Bryce Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Newman, Littlestown R. 2 and Betty Jane Haner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Haner, Gettysburg.

CLAIM MAN WHO FLED JAIL NOT JERI CALDWELL

Information to indicate that the young man who went over the Adams county jail wall to freedom late on the afternoon of November 13—and remained unheard from since that time—was not Jeri C. Caldwell, of Danville, Ky., as police then thought but an unidentified man who stole Caldwell's car in Miami, Fla., has been received here.

The new facts in the case are supplied in a letter to The Gettysburg Times from Enos Swain, editor of the Advocate-Messenger in Danville. Mr. Swain writes in part as follows:

"Jeri C. Caldwell is a resident of this city and is a member of one of the most prominent and respected families in Kentucky. He is himself a young man of excellent character. He is a member of the armed forces and is established in Miami, Fla. Several days prior to November 12 Caldwell came to Danville from Miami via plane to spend a brief furlough. While he was here his car was stolen by another service man of his acquaintance.

"When the thief apparently got into trouble in your county, he gave the authorities the name of Caldwell instead of his own, then later escaped jail and abandoned the car which he had stolen from Caldwell.

"Caldwell is not here at present, having returned to his post in Miami, but he is in touch with the Adams county authorities concerning the recovery of his automobile."

No Word Received Here

State police here who took the man, who gave his name as Caldwell, into custody November 12 for driving on expired license plates, said they have not received any word from Caldwell about recovery of the car. Several weeks ago a telegram came to the state police here from an insurance company in Miami stating the car was stolen and asking about its recovery. The officers here replied that the car, a Buick sedan, is in storage in Gettysburg and will be turned over to the owner when he appears here with proper credentials.

The program is not extra-curricular but is given during the regular health class periods twice each week.

Patronized after the physical education program of the armed forces, the year's training is divided into six periods with a physical check-up at the end of each to measure progress.

Plan Public Exhibition

The boys already have completed the training and conditioning period and the checkups on weight, height and muscular expansion disclosed initial success.

The corporate quota was smashed with one grand sweep this morning when the committee announced that total sales had skyrocketed to $1,512,465 against a quota of $890,000, an over-subscription of $529,442. This total changes almost daily and some committee members believe that the county may double the quota before the close of the drive.

The program is not extra-curricular but is given during the regular health class periods twice each week.

Patronized after the physical education program of the armed forces, the year's training is divided into six periods with a physical check-up at the end of each to measure progress.

Second Checkup Soon

The course, similar to that introduced with marked success by Mr. Ridinger two years ago at Columbia high school where he was the assistant athletic director, now is in the "physical fitness" stage. All of the boys have been classified by physical fitness tests. They have heard lectures and witnessed demonstrations of physical fitness exercises. They are practicing a dozen basic exercises and are beginning corrective exercises for individuals. There are recreational game periods also.

After the arrest state police wrote to the highway patrol of Kentucky for information on ownership of the car the man was driving. They have never had any response to that query.

FBI Has Case

Because of the report that the car was stolen in Florida and hence had been taken across state lines, state police here have referred further investigation to the FBI. No report has been received here of any progress in the case by the federal agents.

State police indicated that there are other factors in the case that remain under investigation in addition to the identity of the man who was taken into custody here and escaped so quickly.

BEEF STEAKS SYMBOLIC OF NEW EIRE ERA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP World Traveler)

Dublin, Dec. 13 (AP)—This is a tough article to control because my whole impulse is to start right out with the glorification of two beef steaks which your columnist team has just eaten at our first meal in the capital of Eire.

They were steaks such as we've dreamed of but haven't even seen up to now since Uncle Sam really hit stride in food rationing. After all, who starts serious columns with dissertations about beef steaks, no matter how unusual? Well, the answer apparently is that I do—being rather given to following impulse.

The reason in this instance is that these beef steaks—being particularly impressive after close rationing in America and closer in Britain—are symbolic of a great change for the better which southern Ireland has undergone in recent years.

No Real Destitution

The Eire which I have known for a generation has been transformed from a land in which there was much poverty and distress to one in which, so I am informed in official quarters, there is no real destitution.

To get the full significance of that you must have seen—as I have in years past—poverty so harsh in some country districts that many families rarely knew anything better than potatoes and salt for food, and were grateful for even these small blessings.

Now, I don't want to give the impression that southern Ireland has suddenly become a land flowing with milk and honey, for it still has a long way to go to reach that state. However, its position has improved so much during the past dozen years, and especially since the beginning of the war, that Dublin today is the mecca of a host of tourists from Britain, including many Americans living in England who are in search of relief from drab and really meager rations.

Coal Shortage

Not a few are drawn by the fact that there's plenty of good liquor to be had here, whereas spirits of any sort are almost as rare in London as molten gold and worth about as much as that precious metal. Of course there is rationing in Ireland, but those juicy steaks with which we started our column are in reality and there are plenty of other good things to go with them.

About the greatest vital shortage is coal—and that's mighty bad. Ireland is dependent on imported coal, most of which has come from England, but Britain herself is short now and the continent is impoverished. The result is that Ireland has fallen back in a big way on the traditional fuel of Ireland—the sweet smelling peat which is cut from the huge bogs. There are miles of peat stacked up in huge piles along the highways about Dublin, but of course this cannot begin to take the place of coal, especially for industrial purposes.

Youngsters Treated For Minor Injuries

Barbara Bates, 7, of 136 Carlisle street, was treated at the Warner hospital Wednesday afternoon for a laceration of her lower lip received in a fall on the ice. Richard Wisotzkey, 3, of 68 West Middle street, was treated Wednesday afternoon for a deep laceration of his left forehead received in a fall while playing.

Mrs. Roy C. McGlaughlin, Fairfield R. 2; Delores Smith, 129 West High street; Walter Daniel, Dillsburg; Larry E. Bittinger, Aspers R. 1, and Mrs. John C. Kunkel, Biglerville R. 2, have been admitted as patients. Those discharged were Mrs. Waits Hughes, Chambersburg street; Miss Alice Kelly, Emmitsburg R. D. and Frederick Kauffman, Hanover.

Larry Eugene Bittinger, four-month-old son of Mrs. Madeline B. Bittinger, Aspers R. 1, died at the Warner hospital this afternoon, at 1:15 o'clock.

BULLETIN

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, flushing with anger, asserted today the army commander in Hawaii was given a "definite" alert order before the Japanese attacked December 7, 1941, and that he felt he could expect it would be carried out.

Marshall testified before the Senate-House committee investigating the attack. Previously, the investigators had learned that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Hawaiian commander, established only an anti-sabotage alert in response to a warning message November 27 from Washington.

TO IGNORE LETTER
An anonymous communication suggesting an investigation of a Gettysburg woman by borough police drew a statement from Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster that this and any similar unsigned letters will be ignored. The letter was printed in pencil, and contained no clue to the writer.

William Glass Gets Six-Month Term

William Thomas Glass, 49, no home, entered a plea of guilty before Justice of the Peace John H. Bassore this morning to a charge of vagrancy, and was sentenced to six months at hard labor. He was given into the custody of the sheriff.

The arrest was made early today by Borough Police Officer Charles W. Culp, Jr., on a complaint that Glass was sleeping on the third floor of the Murphy building, and had committed a nuisance. Other complaints that Glass had been sleeping in the rear seats of parked automobiles were also investigated by Officer Culp.

Glass has a long record of arrests for disorderly conduct and drunkenness in the offices of the local justices of the peace.

Peak Prices For Milk In November

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—November milk will bring $4.31 a hundred-weight, the highest price ever returned from the New York metropolitan milk pool to dairy farmers in the six-state milkshed, Dr. C. J. Blanford has announced.

Blanford said, however, that a decrease in the volume of milk produced meant that the total return of $14,926,873 to 48,481 dairy farmers would fall below the November, 1944, total of $16,600,640.

The price posted for November milk was $3.61 a hundred-weight, plus payments from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Blanford said the output of 328,536,722 pounds of November milk was the lowest ever delivered to New York approved plants in the history of the milk pool.

A decrease in the number of producers as well as the seasonal milk scarcity accounted for the reduced output, he said.

Call For Junior R. C. Christmas Presents

Members of the Junior Red Cross in the schools of Adams county have completed hundreds of Christmas gifts for military and government hospitals and local institutions, and these are being received at the chapter headquarters on Baltimore street.

Mrs. Grace Codori, Junior Red Cross secretary, requested today that those schools which have not sent in their Christmas work yet do so not later than Saturday, December 15. Mrs. Codori is completing her visits to the schools this week.

The Christmas gifts will be packed next week. They include a wide variety of items, including dolls, toys, menu covers, ornaments, etc.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS READING BY DR. MASON

Mr. and Mrs. John Pitzer are entertaining at their home near Aspers Mrs. Pitzer's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Jay, of Warren, Ind., and her brother-in-law and sister, Captain and Mrs. D'Angelo, West Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Francis Mason, a member of Gettysburg college, gave a dialect reading, "How Come Christmas?" by Roark Bradford, at the meeting Wednesday afternoon of the Woman's club. Mrs. William C. Tyson, president of the club, presided. Dr. Mason was introduced by Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the literature committee.

Christmas carols were led by Mrs. S. F. Snyder, chairman of the music committee, with Mrs. Paul A. Kinsey at the piano. Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely presented "Holy Night" as a solo. A chorus of 30 high school pupils from the three upper classes, under the direction of Richard B. Shade, director of music in the public schools, sang "How Sweet the Bells of Christmas," by Klemm, and "The Birthday of a King," by Neidlinger. Miss Rena Dickert, sang as a solo, "Christmas," by McNamey. Prof. Shade was the accompanist. The brief business session conducted at the beginning of the program by Mrs. Tyson, included the routine reports of the secretary and treasurer and chairmen of standing committees.

Announce Contest

Mrs. Tyson announced a contest by the Atlantic Monthly, Boston, with a first prize of $1,000 for manuscripts not to exceed 2,500 words on "The Modern Woman's Place in the Home." The contest is open to any member of the General Federation of Woman's clubs, which includes the Gettysburg club. Manuscripts must be submitted to Mrs. C. K. Peters, Lansdowne, Pa., state chairman of literature, by February 15. Mrs. Tyson recommended that local club members enter papers.

Chester Garretson, who had been at his home at Flora Dale following his discharge from the army, has returned to Pittsburgh where he had been employed before the war.

The Friendship class of Trinity-Bender's Reformed Sunday school Biglerville, at its December meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Herman Warner elected the following officers: President, Herbert Miller; vice president, Henry Lower; secretary, Mrs. Roy Lawyer; assistant secretary, Mrs. Mildred Osborn, and treasurer, Miss Edna Walter.

Grade school children of Arendtsville will present "Where Was Santa?" in the high school auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock under the direction of Miss Louise Gable. Character roles will be portrayed by Jane Flickinger, Clyde Kimpel, John Frederick, Ann Luckenbaugh, Daniel Bushman, Bert Frederick, George Staub, Tommie Ziegler, Fred Garretson, Gwendolyn Burgoon, Eunice Luckenbaugh, Caroline Wiernier, Elsie Miller, Jane Longanecker, Patsey Bolen, Martha Fissel and Shirley Flickinger.

TO GO OUTDOORS IN SPRING

The next period will include wrestling, running and combative methods. Fundamentals of wrestling will be demonstrated and practiced by every boy. With the improvement of weather in the spring, the classes will go outdoors for obstacle course work, commando and ranger exercises and drills, platoon drill and marching and track running.

The final period will be devoted to recreational games such as softball, volleyball, badminton and other group games. There will be drill and field practice—and a final physical check-up on the accomplishments of the year's work.

All high school boys excepting a handful who are not physically able to take the training and have been disqualified by examination by the school district physician are enrolled in the program.

The physical education program, given in the regular health class periods, is entirely distinct from the intra-mural sports program soon to be launched at the school under Ridinger's supervision. The school board has given preliminary approval for the program of sports that will involve a much larger group than participates in the interscholastic games.

MAROONS TRIP WESTMINSTER QUINTET 34-14

Gettysburg high school opened its basketball season successfully Wednesday evening by walloping Westminster high 34-14 in a game played on the Westminster court.

The Maroons hopped off to an 8-3 lead in the first period on goals by Gorman, Hess and Cole and a pair of fous by Heintzelman. At half time the Ridinger-men led 14-6. Gorman contributing five points in the second period on a pair of goals and a foul while Heintzelman looped a free throw.

All of the regulars broke into the scoring column in the second half and Coach Ridinger made good use of the big lead by inserting subs substitutes.

At times the Maroons showed true championship calibre but at other times just the reverse was true.

Coach Haehnlen's scrub team won the preliminary game 27-21, a 10-point surge by the Marylanders in the final period saving them from a complete rout after the Maroons had led 23-11 going into the final period.

Next Tuesday evening the Maroons will play their first home game of the season by meeting the veteran York high aggregation.

Phillies Busiest
At Major Sessions

Chicago, Dec. 13 (P)—The Philadelphia Phillies do not intend to be the National league doormat any longer.

Striving to rebuild their last-place club, the Phillies were the most energetic buyers of talent at the major league sessions, which closed yesterday, acquiring three players. Previously they had drafted for $7,500 the "Mad Russian," Lou Novikoff, an outfields cast-off of the Chicago Cubs.

The Phils laid out possibly $60,000 in the purchase of Pitcher Johnny Humphries from the Chicago White Sox, First Baseman Frank McCormick from the Cincinnati Reds and Shortstop Lamar (Skeeter) Newson from the Boston Red Sox.

Activity in the player market was the dullest in years with the result that rosters of all 16 clubs in the American and National leagues will be loaded with surplus talent in the early weeks of the 1946 season.

Reduction of income taxes after the first of the year stopped some of the clubs with actual bargains to offer from making deals.

Alabama Has Best Record From 1933

New York, Dec. 13 (P)—Alabama rose-bowl, has compiled the best record of any college football team in the country over the last 13 years from 1933-1945, inclusive.

Over this 13-year-span the crimson tide, ranked second to mighty Army in the final Associated Press 1945 poll, has won 89 games, lost 17 and tied seven for a percentage of .840.

Army's sweep of its 18 games during 1944 and 1945 pulled the West Point cadets from far down the list into the No. 12 slot at .722.

The won-lost tabulation shows another southeastern conference eleven, Tennessee, in second place at 817 and Duke, champions of the southern conference, third at .802.

York Springs Will Engage Fairfield

Basketball has been instituted at York Springs high school and the first game of the season will be played Friday evening when Fairfield will be met on the new court in the firemen's hall at York Springs.

Clyde L. Kennedy is coaching both the boys' and girls' teams at York Springs.

The girls' squad is composed of Betty Fair, Miriam Hogue, Jean Hetherington, Mary Harbold, Jean Harbold, Joan Harbold, Dorothy Weigle, Barbara Chronister, Ethel Maser, Violet Maser, Fannie Wonders, Joan Miller, Kathryn Starry, Janet King, Ruth Lory, Ethel Gries, Viola Myers, Ethel Guise and Jean Brane.

Chicago, Dec. 13 (P)—The theme of baseball's major league's joint meeting—which, at least, closed earlier than most of the joints around the loop—apparently was "making Happy happy".

Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler didn't exactly get his own way about everything, but he got plenty of concessions from the club owners. If the Minor leaguers tried to slap him down at Columbus—and Chandler won't admit they did—the only slaps he got here were on the back. Now his only task is explaining to his old across-the-river neighbors in Evansville, Ind., how come he shelled out $1 for a share in the Terre Haute boosters club. Those towns are red hot rivals.

Indoor Winds
A lot of lobby talk has centered around two Minor leaguers, Clinton Hartung, bought by the New York Giants from Minneapolis and reported to be a terrific hitter, and Eddie Eraut, a pitcher on whom the Cincinnati Reds have an option. Hartung, who cost the Giants 20G and two players, could have been drafted last month for $7,500. Eraut, tabbed at a $5000 prospect, will cost the Reds just half that if they exercise the option they got from Hollywood when they sent Buck Fawcett there. . . . But the Stars' boss, Oscar Reichow, says he wouldn't be surprised if Cincinnati put out another $10,000 to get Eraut this season. . . . The Chicago White Sox likely will wear red, white and blue socks next season. The white hose had a tendency to show tattle tale gray.

GRID REVIVAL OPENS UP JOBS

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Dec. 13 (P)—With college football due to boom next year as numerous schools resume their war-interrupted schedules, the scramble is on for a dozen or more coaching jobs, some of them paying in the handsome neighborhood of $15,000 a year.

Outstanding among the vacancies are those at the Universities of California, Mississippi, Kentucky, Arkansas and Oklahoma—all of them powers in their sectors—and at such as Syracuse, Carnegie Tech, Fordham and Navy. In addition, many smaller schools are in the market for new mentors.

Chandler Backs Night Baseball
Chicago, Dec. 13 (P)—Albert B. "Happy" Chandler, commissioner of baseball, emerged from presiding over his first joint session with the major leaguers yesterday, happily victorious and with no sniping against him.

Commissioner Chandler cast the deciding vote which will allow the clubs to play unlimited night baseball next season, although most will stop at 14. The exceptions will be the two St. Louis clubs and the Washington Senators.

In connection with night clubs, it was decided to abandon twilight doubleheaders, unless such are made necessary to keep up with the schedule. Night encounters also will be frowned upon as Sunday and holiday attractions. Because the two league could not agree on the number of after dark contests, Commissioner Chandler voted for "no restrictions," as advocated by the National League.

Chandler gained two victories during the four hour joint session, in addition to casting the "sky-is-the-limit" night game vote. Chandler gained veto power over all legislation he considers detrimental to baseball but can be overruled by a three-fourths vote. The minor leaguers at the meeting did not agree on the number of after dark contests, Commissioner Chandler voted for "no restrictions," as advocated by the National League.

Philadelphia, Dec. 13 (P)—Temple university's Owls, warming up for Saturday's encounter with the champion Oklahoma A. and M. quartet, edged Bainbridge (Md.) Naval Training Station 57-56 last night by scoring the winning goal in the last two seconds.

The fray highlighted a busy day for 16 Pennsylvania college basketball teams, 9 of whom scored impressive wins. Five of the losing quintets, however, were downed by Keystone state opponents.

The Owls, trailing throughout the game on the Sailors' court gained their second straight win against no defeats when Ed Lerner, a substitute forward, flicked a one-handed shot through the hoop as time ran out.

Temple will be in the underdog role when the Aggies, national champions a year ago, invade the Philadelphia Convention hall court—star attraction in the finale of a double bill. In the opener the University of Pennsylvania tangles with Cornell.

Glassport, Pa., Dec. 13 (P)—Buff Donelli, former Duquesne university football coach, got his discharge from the navy Wednesday but he is not returning to the Pittsburgh school.

The stocky coach, who also piloted the Cleveland Rams, declared last night he would not return to either the Rams or Duquesne.

"I've had both professional and college coaching jobs offered me but I don't know yet what I'll do," he explained. "I should know, though, in about 10 days."

Kentucky, determined to make a big football comeback, is reported considering more than 50 prospective coaches, among them such pillars as Wallace Wade, Henry Franke, Frank Leahy and John Barnhill, all of whom are lucratively employed.

Oscar Solem's resignation at Syracuse Monday after nine years of coaching the Orange left one of the better old line jobs open.

Carnegie Tech, which also announced it would resume after a two-year lapse, has received between 20 and 30 applications for its coaching job, but none yet from Joe Sklodiany, who joined the navy after a victory-less '43 season. It will pay about $6,000.

Post Home of Legion Bought by H. L. Oyler

The home of the Albert J. Lentz post, No. 202, American Legion, York street, purchased April 1, 1922, was sold by the Legionnaires to Herbert L. Oyler, North Stratton street, for $8,750, at a special meeting of the post, Thursday evening. Mr. Oyler's offer for the purchase of the home was accepted without a dissenting vote.

The price received by the Legion is several hundred dollars in excess of the purchasing price when the home was bought by the Legion from Hemler Brothers.

PRESIDENT ONLY RECOMMENDED CEILING PRICES

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—The No. 1 point to remember about President Truman's proposal to put a ceiling on the price at which a new or old home can be sold—is this:

He is simply proposing it. He's not going to do it himself. He thinks neither he nor anyone else in the government has authority to do that for manslaughter.

So he suggests that Congress pass a law specifically giving him or some government agency such authority.

It will be some time before Congress does anything of the kind, if ever.

No Controls Yet

Until it does—or unless Mr. Truman changes his mind and decides he has authority to impose such ceilings—you can sell your house at any price you wish.

It's this freedom to charge any price that worries Mr. Truman.

Prices on houses already have gone up, and probably will continue to climb, because housing is scarce. House owners are taking advantage of this scarcity to charge inflated prices.

Procedure Takes Time

Pending in Congress now is the Patman bill—offered by Rep. Dwight Patman, Texas Democrat—which would give the government authority to place ceiling sales prices on new or old homes.

The House Banking Committee has held hearings on it. Some of the committee members seem bitterly against it. If the committee does approve it, the bill has to go up before the full House for debate and action.

If it passes there, then it has to go through the same kind of mill in the Senate. All of this takes time, of course, and meanwhile prices on homes seem sure to continue upward briskly.

This is what the Patman bill would do, if it became law:

1. In the case of a house built before the bill became law—the first time the house was sold after passage of the law, the sale price would become the ceiling price. No one could re-sell it at a higher price.

2. In the case of a house completed after the bill became law—the government would set a ceiling price on that house. That would be the maximum price no matter how many times the house was re-sold.

These ceilings wouldn't necessarily be imposed all over the United States but only where the government thought they were needed to control prices.

But—whether or not such a law is passed—the government from now on is going to exercise some control over the price of houses to be built.

To Control Materials

It will do this by controlling the materials going into new housing. Builders who agree to build no house costing more than $10,000 will get priorities on 50 per cent of the building materials in this country.

(Once the builder sells the new home for $10,000 or less, of course, the new owner will be free to sell it at any higher price he can get. The purpose of the control-priority plan is merely to get more lower-cost houses built.)

As for the other 50 per cent of materials—which will not be under priority—anyone who can get them can build anything he wants at any price.

Officials here say the government—although lacking specific authority to put ceilings on new or old homes—still has its war-time power to control materials going into new buildings, through granting priorities.

There are some 44,000 lightning flashes all around the earth on an average day.

Leading roles were taken by Miss Elizabeth Mumford, Miss Ruth Bear, Miss Pauline Little, Miss Evelyn Thomas, Miss Mildred Myers, Miss Thelma Adair, Miss Edith Minter and Miss Madelyn Culp.

All of the proceeds were turned into the Girls' Council treasury. Miss Josephine Rebert was at the piano.

To Go On Trial In "Radio Slaying"

"TRADER BILL" WAS WEALTHY

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 13 (AP)—Blair Krieger, 71, defendant in the "radio slaying" October 26 in front of his home near here, will tell his story of the rifle death of John Molchan, 33, of Uniontown, at a juryless trial before Judge E. J. McDaniel, beginning Monday.

Krieger appeared before the court yesterday and pleaded guilty of having more than enough money for coffee and doughnuts, may have left a quarter million dollar fortune, relatives said today.

"Old Bill" wasn't really Bill at all, though that was the name of the 77-year-old man who was given by barbers whose scissors he sharpened.

His real name was Fred Goldsmith but few knew it until his death in his simply-furnished room in a lodging house.

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The All-American conference expects to complete its ten-club lineup shortly, says Commissioner Jim Crowley, who disclosed that $100,000 was shelled out to get Dan Topping a New York eleven into the fold.

The other eight teams of the circuit not only contributed to a $100,000 fund to encourage Topping to switch allegiance from the National league but also allowed the former marine captain to come into the loop without paying the $10,000 entry fee, Crowley said last night in re-

SURVEY DEMAND FOR NEW HOMES

Harrisburg, Dec. 13 (AP)—The state housing board rushed ahead today with plans to determine the existing need for new homes in Pennsylvania and ascertain the factors currently impeding a comprehensive housing program.

The board, acting concurrently with President Truman's move to break the bottleneck of the housing shortage at the national level, will conduct a survey to find out how many homes costing less than $10,000 per unit are now under construction or are planned for construction in communities throughout the state.

Chairman Ritchie Lawrie, Jr., said after a board meeting yesterday that private and public agencies and officials, including mayors and burgesses, will be asked to estimate the scope of shortage.

The board also requested communities with serious housing shortages take steps immediately to form a housing authority to work with the state group.

ANNUAL FAIR

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (AP)—Discontinued four years ago because of the war, Allegheny county's annual fair at South Park will be resumed in 1946, county commissioners decided yesterday.

Notes On Winter Bird Care

Many species of friendly birds do not migrate to warmer regions for winter but remain in the North. It is to protect and increase these useful permanent guests that winter feeding and general care are urged.

If 25 honest men came to a farmer's door and volunteered to work without wages, merely for meals, to keep all insect pests from his ornamental plants, vegetable garden, orchard and field crops, it would be a strange case indeed if he turned down so profitable and advantageous an offer. Yet, that is a fair example of what birds do. They ask only for sufficient food on which to live and occasionally some protection from enemy cats and the more dangerous enemy—man. For this meager compensation they work around the year as policemen guarding mankind's most precious property—food.

There are two sources of winter feed for birds—natural, such as the fruits of shrubs, vines and other plants; and artificial, including grains, meats, table scraps and similar foods, furnished in suitable receptacles in locations where they may feast free from molestation.

Many farmers who appreciate the worth of birds in their war on destructive insects practice growing special crops for their feathered friends to feed on over winter. For example, one reader explains that a single row of sorghum came across the side of a field produced enough heavy heads of seed to supply bird requirements all winter. A town housewife grows and saves seed from several annual and perennial flowers solely to feed winter birds.

A group of eastern school children plant and cultivate a patch of sunflowers over summer to raise relished seed for their winter bird-feeding campaign.

In fact, California poppies, portulacas, silene, asters, sorghum, sunflower, buckwheat, rye, barley, oats and a score or more additional ornamental and food and plant plants may be grown purposely to overflow the winter store of bird feed.

The inclusion of at least some of the richer protein-bearing seeds is wise.

Winter feeding meets two challenging problems—first, to devise and locate receptacles to protect displayed feed from wind, snow and rain and at the same time not interfere with all species of birds feeding freely; second, to provide enough feed to last all winter, from late fall until spring brings back natural supplies of food. For it cannot be too strongly stressed that birds must be fed like all other dependent creatures—on a daily, not a hit-or-miss basis.

As aids in these and other bird-care problems, interested readers are urged to write the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Office of Information, Washington 25, D. C. for free copies of Farmers' Bulletin 621—Attracting Birds, and Farmers' Bulletin 1783—Feeding Wildlife In Winter. And to round out a sound reading program, especially for school children, Farmers' Bulletin 1456—Homes For Birds, should be included.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (AP)—Supported by an opinion from their general counsel Lee Pressman, the CIO-United Steel Workers declared in a formal resolution they are within their contract rights in going ahead with plans for a nation-wide strike January 14.

The strike, set for January 14 by the USW's 175-man wage policy committee, to enforce the union's demand for a $2-a-day wage increase.

A resolution, adopted by the same committee late yesterday, asserted the union has "mettulously adhered to the terms of the contract and will continue to do so."

Intervention and Delays

At news conference, Phillip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steel Workers, held out no hope the union will take any new step to avert a strike.

Asked if government intervention might halt a walkout, Murray said the union would accept a government invitation to negotiate with a federal labor conciliator present—if the U. S. Steel corporation would also accept the invitation.

Such action, Murray said, would at least postpone the strike.

The Steelworkers' head had "no comment" when asked what his union would do should legislation proposed by President Truman to curb strikes be adopted before January 14.

Committee's Answer

Defending the demand for a $2-a-day raise, the CIO president declared average weekly earnings for steel workers are now about $46, a drop of $11 since the war's end.

The wage policy committee, in its resolution, answered a charge by the Iron and Steel Institute that Steelworkers' contracts contained a clause "wherein the union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract." The contracts expire in October, 1946.

The union contended the clause permits it to "reopen the contract for a general wage increase upon a change in national wage policy," and added such a change "has been announced and the War Labor Board in a unanimous resolution, has expressly recognized that the union is free to bargain with respect to a general wage increase."

Notes On Winter Bird Care

Many species of friendly birds do not migrate to warmer regions for winter but remain in the North. It is to protect and increase these useful permanent guests that winter feeding and general care are urged.

If 25 honest men came to a farmer's door and volunteered to work without wages, merely for meals, to keep all insect pests from his ornamental plants, vegetable garden, orchard and field crops, it would be a strange case indeed if he turned down so profitable and advantageous an offer. Yet, that is a fair example of what birds do. They ask only for sufficient food on which to live and occasionally some protection from enemy cats and the more dangerous enemy—man. For this meager compensation they work around the year as policemen guarding mankind's most precious property—food.

MANCHURIA TO BE IN CHINESE CONTROL SOON

(By The Associated Press) Complete Chinese government occupation of eastern Manchuria within a few weeks appeared in prospect today with the appearance of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in Peiping as his armies pushed deeper into the vast territory.

Chiang's troops moved into Mukden and 40 miles beyond, rolling on toward industrial Harbin, and airborne divisions were flying to Changchun, the Manchurian capital.

Presence of the generalissimo in Peiping, his first appearance there in many years, heightened government hopes for an early end to the conflict with Chinese Communists in north China.

Observers in Tientsin viewed these rapid-fire developments as a strong indication that all Manchuria, rich in industry, will be in the hands of Chiang's government forces within a few weeks—and probably with a minimum of bloodshed.

In Java, fighting between British and Indonesian forces ebbed to small-scale clashes, but a new trouble spot loomed. Indonesian leaders from Sumatra rejected Dutch offers of dominion status, and declared they would support the native republi in its fight for independence.

Martin Says Loans Abroad To Stimulate U. S. Markets Not Sound Policy

GOVERNOR IS
SPEAKER FOR STATE GRANGE

Clearfield, Pa., Dec. 13 (P) — The idea of making loans to foreign countries to stimulate U. S. markets "is economically unsound," Governor Martin asserted today, but, he said, "loans can be made to buy surplus products to feed the hungry of the world."

"Such loans should be made in a businesslike manner," the governor said in an address prepared for a meeting of the Pennsylvania Grange.

"We should help feed the hungry, as a matter of common humanity," Martin went on. "We can count also on the favor and good will of these unfortunate people in the coming years. This can help in creating a union of nations for preserving world peace. At the same time, it will give us a real market and an honest market for our surpluses."

Opportunity for Vets

The governor said "The wise farmer knows that subsidies and legislation will not do the job. . . . The job can be done only by more efficient methods, by cutting costs of production with mechanized equipment, the use of fertilizer, by scientific methods, and by brains and sweat."

On the subject of grants to veterans, Martin said:

"We still favor giving them every possible opportunity. The families of those who made the supreme sacrifice must be supported. The sick and the incapacitated must have every care that money, skill and loving hands can give."

"In all these things, however, we must all bear in mind that the veterans of this war will eventually pay one-half of all the cost of government. They are the cream of the crop, the workers and doers of tomorrow. Eventually they will pay the bill."

Agricultural Policy

Martin asserted that "some of our cure-all politicians favor fewer farmers" and "want to force people, by economic pressure, away from the farms into industry and the service trades," and declared:

"That will never solve the prob-

32 Associations To Meet At Harrisburg

Harrisburg, Dec. 13 (P) — More than 32 statewide agricultural associations will be represented at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Council of Farm organizations here next Tuesday.

Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst will be the principal speaker at the afternoon session when various current and future farm problems of the state will be discussed.

The council will hold a joint meeting with the Pennsylvania association of cooperative organizations.

Farm Safety

"Make a farm survey now," urged Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst in announcing plans for farm safety week July 21-27, 1946.

"There will be little opportunity to replace badly worn farm machinery and equipment before next summer or fall and special efforts should be made this winter by farm managers to do the best they can in the way of repairs to old equipment for safe use," Horst said.

BUY OIL STOCK

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (P) — The Republic Oil Refining company has purchased the entire capital stock of the Republic Oil company, a distributing and marketing agency which handled sales of the refining company's products.

W. E. Huston, president of the refining company, said the purchase was made from the General Oil Sales corporation, for an undisclosed price.

Item. America became rich and powerful and has high living standards because of an economy of plenty, not an economy of scarcity and near starvation.

"If we are to keep agriculture sound we must make our farms more inviting, just as we are making life more and more inviting for the town and city dweller. To make our farm homes and rural communities better we want more people to own their own farms and farm homes."

Martin advocated lower taxes on real estate, improvement of educational and cultural opportunities, and creation of "a greater pride in agriculture, which will encourage real progress in a vast industry."

The 80-year-old former U. S. senator from Pennsylvania asserted the court has no power to name a purchaser.

Pullman Still Trying To Sell

Philadelphia, Dec. 13 (P) — Pullman, Inc., still wants to sell its sleeping car business to a combine of 52 railroads despite opposition from the U. S. government and three other bidders for the $75,000,000 property, says George Wharton Pepper, its counsel.

A three-judge special expediting court today considered merits of the four purchase proposals following end of a three-day hearing yesterday.

Pepper, in a closing argument in behalf of Pullman who was ordered by federal court to sell its subsidiary sleeper service in an antitrust decision, called the case "a matter of the most vital importance in the history of law."

The 80-year-old former U. S. senator from Pennsylvania asserted the court has no power to name a purchaser.

UNION BACKERS
PLEASSED WITH OWN SUCCESS

Washington, Dec. 13 (P) — Congress members aligned with the big unions against pending labor legislation voiced satisfaction today that they had one measure headed for the boneyard and another stalled off at least until next year.

Representatives who fought unsuccessfully to head off House approval of a bill making unions liable under the 1934 Anti-Racketeering Act said they were confident it would die in the Senate.

As for President Truman's proposal of a law blocking strikes for 30 days while fact-finding boards look into labor disputes, House and Senate leaders said privately they still thought chances were mighty slim Congress would get around to it before the Christmas recess.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he had reason to believe the measure would be enacted before the holiday, as he requested. Today they switched committees.

House Okay

Even Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach a backer of the President's proposal, conceded however that if the Senate Labor Committee went ahead with plans to call up about 100 witnesses no immediate action was in sight.

Schwellenbach testified for the bill at the Senate group's hearing yesterday. In the meanwhile AFL President William Green opposed it at a House Labor committee hearing.

The House gave one-sided approval yesterday to an amendment which would make unions punishable for "robbery or extortion" within the scope of the 1934 act. But Rep. Marcantonio, (American Labor-N. Y.), remarked today that a similar bill failed to clear a Senate committee last year and declared: "the same thing will happen again."

SANTA And The WHITE BUNNY

Chapter 8

Off to Santa Land

David felt sick with hopelessness as he and Santa left the castle.

"How could I get a star?" he whispered. "Or a spool of thread 800,000 miles long? And I don't even know what a Zany flower is!"

"It's a flower that grows at the bottom of the sea," said Santa, leading the way to the cloud which they had left on the mountain side.

He didn't say another word until they had taken the rocks off the cloud and were once again sailing through the sky. Then he said, "David if you are very brave perhaps we can find a way."

"Oh, tell me," cried the boy, hugging the white bunny close. "I shall be very, very brave!"

"First of all," said Santa gently, "You've got to believe that you can do it and believing in a thing hard enough will make it so."

David thought very hard for a moment. "Even if I weren't quite sure," he asked at last. "Would it be enough if someone else believed in me?" Santa nodded and David said, "Then it's all right because Mary believes." And he pressed his face against the bunny's soft fur.

Santa had to blow his nose quite hard. But he said, "First we must go to Santa Land so that Mrs. Claus will know I'm all right. And good gracious! What a lot of work must have piled up since I've been gone!"

So they went to Santa Land. David thought it an even more enchanting place than Fairy Folk Land. The snow lay seventeen feet deep and what hills there were for coasting! (If one but had the time!) There were long rows of work shops with smoke pouring from the chimneys and David could hear Santa's helpers talking and singing as they made the wagons and skates and dolls and bicycles and spinning tops for all the children of the world.

They came to Santa's cottage and Mrs. Claus was so cross! "You promised you'd be back right away," she scolded Santa. "Everytime you go to visit the Fairy Tale Folk you forget all about time."

"You are right, always right," said Santa mildly. "But listen now to this boy's tale and you will see what I've been about."

When she had heard David's story she wept so she had to get an extra handkerchief. Then she cuddled the little bunny in her arms. After a while she fed the bunny and she fed Santa and David, too. Then everyone felt better.

Suddenly there was a banging at

U. S. Marines To Stay On In China

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Truman said Wednesday that United States Marines will remain in China until surrender terms with the Japanese have been carried out.

Presumably this means that as long as there are any important forces of defeated Japanese left in China the Marines will stay there, since Secretary of State Byrnes recently declared that under the surrender terms the United States is committed to help get the surrendered Japanese units home.

Mr. Truman also was asked at his news conference about Byrnes' departure today for a Moscow meeting with Foreign Commissar Molotov and Foreign Minister Bevin.

He replied only that the trip was planned a long time ago as part of the program of foreign minister meetings agreed upon at the Yalta "Big Three" conference.

He added that he expected that the next meeting of the three foreign secretaries would be held in Washington, probably in March or April.

the cottage door and Patrick Tweedleknives, the oldest dwarf in Santa Land stomped into the room.

"I won't have it!" he cried to Santa without a word to David or Mrs. Claus and without even taking off his cap. "Enough is enough and I have had enough."

Santa blew out his cheeks and winked at David. "This is Patrick Tweedleknives who has certain liberties," he explained. "And takes more. What is it you've had enough of now, Patrick?"

"The spiders!" shouted Patrick. "The spiders you brought back last June. Sixty there were then and now there are hundreds of them spinning webs throughout the shops till no one can see what he's about. It's—

"Wait!" cried Santa and he was on his feet. "Hear that, David! Sixty spiders I brought back here last June because everytime they spun a web in their city someone tore it down. Now there are hundreds of them."

"That's what I say—" began Patrick.

"Hundreds of spiders can spin thousands of webs," went on Santa, ignoring Tweedleknives. "And thousands of webs make hundreds of thousands of feet of—"

"Thread!" shouted David, understanding at last. "Then we'll have our spool of thread!"

TOTAL JOBLESS 30-40 PC. BELOW EXPECTATIONS

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—The impact of peace on joblessness is 30 to 40 per cent lighter than recent forecasts anticipated.

Fewer lay-offs in industry and an unexpectedly high and sustained rate of buying are among factors that have prompted key federal economists to offer this improved employment outlook:

By year's end, the total of actual and potential job-seekers will be 4,000,000 at the most, one-third less than had been predicted for that date when hostilities ceased.

By next month the jobless will number not more than 5,000,000. This may be the peak for 1946.

To Decrease Next June

After hanging around that mark until about June the total may begin to decline as civilian manufacturing hits full stride. But officials are wary of guessing beyond mid-1946.

The totals fall far short of reconstruction director John W. Snyder's estimate, on October 1, that unemployment would hit 8,000,000 by spring.

However, it is known that the forecasts are concurred in by experts in Snyder's office, in the Bureau of Census and some other agencies concerned with the employment problem.

The happier outlook may bring a different sort of problem, Price Administrator Chester Bowles has indicated. He said Monday that the continued high rate of employment was adding to inflationary pressure, making it harder to end price controls.

Many Vets Uncounted

Bowles mentioned the new census figures which put unemployment at 1,580,000 in November, hardly up from October. However, the census estimate does not include the outpouring of discharged veterans who are visiting or vacationing before they look for work. Nor does it list civilian workers who are taking a rest after arduous wartime efforts.

Adding these in as potential job-seekers, and allowing ample for possible error in the census sampling, government statisticians believe there now are between 2,500,000 and 3,500,000 people who want or will want jobs.

By comparison, the War Manpower Commission estimated after V-J Day that 6,000,000 would be out of work by the end of this month.

Worn out tankers were used as floating storages in the war in the Pacific.

The happier outlook may bring a different sort of problem, Price Administrator Chester Bowles has indicated. He said Monday that the continued high rate of employment was adding to inflationary pressure, making it harder to end price controls.

40,000 Electrical Workers Vote Today

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (AP)—Nearly 40,000 workers in Pennsylvania plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., and the General Electric Corp., were involved in the strike vote being taken today by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine

Workers of America.

The number of eligible voters in Westinghouse plants in the state was figured by the National Labor Relations board at 30,925 and in General electric works at 7,445.

An estimated 7,000 of the General Electric workers are employed at the big Erie works. The BLRB also listed about 275 eligible to vote at New Kensington and 170 at East Liberty, Pittsburgh.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz was born in Fredericksburg, Tex.

BANKERS ADVISE ON NEW LAWS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13 (P)—Representatives of the Pennsylvania Bankers association were called here Tuesday to confer with the Legislature's committee investigating finance companies and consumer credit.

Chairman Franklin H. Lichtenwalter (R., Lehigh) said the banking representatives were invited to the committee meeting so the lawmakers could get a complete picture of all interests operating in the finance field.

The committee was set up by the Legislature's joint state government (research) commission after the 1945 session of the Assembly ordered an inquiry into complaints that some finance companies were engaging in so-called sharp practices.

Also expected at the meeting today were representatives of the Pennsylvania Insurance Agents Association and groups of mutual insurers.

Lichtenwalter said the committee also hoped to look over the first sheaf of special forms issued by the state Revenue Department on which dealers and purchasers of automobiles are required to detail all financial transactions involved in the sale of motor vehicles.

Boy Is Strangled In Freak Accident

Coronado, Pa., Dec. 13 (P)—On the eve of his twelfth birthday, Paul Betlyn was found strangled in the basement of his home in this Allegheny county town Tuesday night.

Paul apparently was the victim of a freak accident while playing with a clothesline.

The body was discovered by a younger child of the family who went to the basement shortly after Paul had gone there to play.

The boy's father, Paul J. Betlyn, found his son with his feet resting on the basement floor and the upper part of his body suspended by the clothesline, hanging from a beam. Investigators believed the boy may have stumbled while at play.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower was one of seven brothers.

ONLY OPTIMIST WILL PLAN TRIP

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (P)—Folks planning trips over the holidays had better think twice about it, a railroad official said Tuesday.

Carl H. Beach, head of the Pittsburgh traffic department of the Santa Fe railroad, asserted:

"The transportation situation is the worst it has ever been since the beginning of the war. All our Pullman space to the west coast is sold out solid through December 23."

Beach listed factors contributing to the crush:

Discharged service men en route home, government troop movements, and folks who haven't had a vacation away from home in four years decide now is the time to take a trip.

The Pennsylvania railroad also thinks only an optimist will take chances on holiday transportation. With the Pullman ban still on for trips of less than 450 miles, day coaches will be crowded.

The Greyhound bus strike, tying up east-west lines east of the Mississippi, is still on, adding to the load borne by the railroads.

Both Pennsylvania Central Airlines and the Transcontinental and Western Airlines report they are booked solid through Christmas eve. Pennsylvania Central said it planned to put on two additional sections from Pittsburgh to Washington, for 15 days beginning Saturday, in hope of alleviating the situation.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Walter Winand, oldest resident of East Berlin, observed his 92nd birthday at his home Monday. Mr. Winand is in excellent health for his age and is able to attend numerous duties at his place where he resides with his 89-year-old wife whose health has not been good for several years. The couple is the first of five generations, all represented here: Mrs. George A. Binder and Mrs. Adam Myers being daughters, Mrs. Orville Zeigler, a granddaughter, while Mrs. Zeigler, in turn, is the mother of Mrs. Thomas Roomburg, Jr., who has a two-year-old daughter, Carol-Jean. A grandson of the nonagenarian, Mark W. Binder, Hanover, formerly of here, is serving in the Navy.

Dr. Arthur N. Breuer, who formerly practised dentistry here, and who with his wife has been residing with his mother in York since his discharge as an army lieutenant this fall, has purchased a property in Hanover where he and Mrs. Breuer will make their home and where he expects to conduct a dental office.

The recently married Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Livingston, Jr., she the former Miss Ruth Leer, are spending an indefinite time at the home of his father near Red Run church.

The council of Holtzschwamm church conducted a meeting during the week at the home of Mr.

New York Ready For Gay New Year

U. S. ANNOUNCES ECONOMIC PLAN

By GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Dec. 13 (P)—The gayest New Year's Eve celebration in New York city since before the war ended was assured Monday as state liquor authority announced it would permit bars to operate all night for the occasion, provided they obtained a special $10 permit.

The regular week-day closing hour is 4 a. m. Hotels and night clubs reported they already had been receiving a flood of early reservations.

and Mrs. Jesse J. Hammie, Paradise Twp.

Mrs. Wilbur Keener, whose husband is in the service, has been receiving a time with her parents, near Dillsburg, accompanied by her young son.

Mrs. Lloyd A. Bosselman has received word her brother, Nevin E. Baker, Army Air Corps, is now at McCord Field, Tacoma, Wash. He is a graduate of the East Berlin high school in 1939 as is his brother, Walter, serving overseas with the same service branch. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Baker, near Holtzschwamm church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Volland were hosts recently to Mr. and Mrs. Joel Baugher, Black Rock.

Slight improvement is reported in the condition of Mrs. George W. Mouf who has been confined to bed for several days with a severe cold complicated by a sinus condition.

Mrs. Edwin Ruby has received word from her son, George E. Lehman, Washington, D. C., of

This is the long-range objective of American policy toward the Reich as laid down by the State Department. It comprises a middle-ground between "hard" and "soft" peace proposals.

To carry it out, however, the United States and the other Allies will have to provide funds—perhaps hundreds of millions—to permit Germany to import her necessities over the next two years.

The State Department made public the U. S. policy by releasing the text of a statement prepared at the request of the War Department for guidance of American occupation authorities.

The statement, which also was sent to the governments of Russia, Britain and France, constituted the first detailed interpretation by any power of the general policy for Germany produced at the Potsdam Big Three meeting in August.

FRENCH OPPOSITION

American officials were unwilling to predict how the other three occupying powers might receive the policy declaration.

They said, however, that the American plan was based on the assumption that Germany would retain its present boundaries, including the industrial Ruhr and Rhine land areas.

This assured opposition from France, which has insisted that

SCHOOLS HARD HIT

Somerset, Pa., Dec. 13 (P)—Influenza and colds kept about one-third of all school children of Somerset at home Tuesday. Somerset high, with an enrollment of 970, had 372 out; the two grade schools, with 591 pupils, had 189 out.

TWO FOR ONE
Scobey, Mont., Dec. 13 (P)—Two hunters, a man and a bobcat, were stalking the same jackrabbit.

When Sheldon E. Kosher raised his rifle to shoot a bobcat sprang at the rabbit from a gully. Kosher missed the rabbit.

But he bagged the bobcat.

5 ARMY STARS GET POSTS ON ALL-AMERICA 11

New York, Dec. 11 (P)—The 1945 All-America football team, the twenty-first selection of Associated Press sports writers, is one of the fastest and heaviest bunch of pigskinners ever chosen on one squad.

Featuring a speedy, brawny line averaging 206 pounds per man, and four atomic-like backs, weighing between 174 and 205 pounds, this season's big eleven also has four repeaters from the 1944 team.

If that isn't enough to appease any pigskin appetite, cut yourself a slice of those five powerful West Pointers in the all-important line-up—backs Felix (Doc) Blanchard and Glenn Davis, guard John Green and tackles DeWitt Coulter and Albert Nemetz—and remember they represent the greatest team in Army's history.

Other Reporters

Besides Blanchard and Davis, back Robert Fenimore, Oklahoma A. & M.; end Hubert Bechtol, Texas University, win All-America honors for the second successive season. It is the first time since 1942 that any stars repeated. The last time four players turned the trick was back in 1940.

Blanchard, Davis and Fenimore create another first by being named to the backfield two years in a row, and a fan has to go all the way back to 1944 to find a season when five teammates—all from Harvard won recognition.

As far as sections go, once again the East rules the roost with 13 grid greats. Besides the five Army players, end Richard Duden of Navy makes the first team, three other Eastern collegians are on the second team and four on the third.

The Midwest is second with 12 representatives. Fenimore and guard Warren Amling of Ohio State on the first team, six second stringers and four on the third team.

The South placed one man, center Vaughn Mancha of Alabama on the first eleven, one on the second and two on the third. Besides Bechtol, the Southwest landed a tackle on the second team. The Far West has quarterback Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's running the big backfield and a guard on the third eleven.

Getting down to the 11 fellows who top all others on the gridirons this year, according to ace Associated Press sports writers throughout the nation, only three are seniors. Here's the team:

Mancha a Soph

Vaughn Mancha, Alabama—Every coach, player and fan who saw the 234-pound six foot sophomore from Birmingham perform calls him "Mr. Center." There's no doubt that the oldest man on the All-America (he's 23) was all of that.

Mancha made more than one ball carrier fumble all over the field with his hard-charging tackles. The big fellow is the fastest man on the Tide squad and Coach Frank Thomas, who has been around many years, says Vaughn is the speediest man he ever saw in the forward wall.

John Green, Army—The West Point captain played his last and best year for the black, gold and gray. He's one of the lightest men in the line but he makes up the play end until long after the boys at Annapolis started practice.

The Sailor's captain was one of the more inspirational leaders on a gridiron this year. Six foot two, a senior, and leader among the Midshipmen. Dick is one of the speediest boys on any gridiron. Defensively, there hasn't been a more terrific tackler in years.

All-America Second and Third Teams

SECOND TEAM	POSITION	THIRD TEAM
Max Morris, Northwestern	End	Henry Walker, Virginia
Thomas Dean, S. Methodist	Tackle	Clarence Ester, Wisconsin
John Mastrangelo, N. Dame	Guard	Al Sparis, UCLA
Richard Scott, Navy	Center	Ralph Jenkins, Clemson
Joseph Dickerson, Penn	Guard	Jim Lecture, Northwestern
Jim Kekeris, Missouri	Tackle	George Savitsky, Penn
Henry Goldberg, Army	End	Neill Armstrong, Okla. A & M
Frank Dancewicz, N. Dame	Back	George Talarico, Indiana
Harry Gilmer, Alabama	Back	Clyde Scott, Navy
Peter Phios, Indiana	Back	Stan Koslowski, Holy Cross
Ollie Cline, Ohio State	Back	Robert Evans, Penn

America team had to handle two or three enemies which he did very well.

Dick Duden, Navy—One of the nation's leading backs in 1943 and 44, the native New Yorker didn't play end until long after the boys at Annapolis started practice.

While on Army, since the Cadets placed five men on the big eleven this season, it's interesting to note the late Col. Paul Bunker, hero of Corregidor and Bataan, was the first service academy player to win All-American recognition back in 1901 along with Charley Daly, later a West Point coach.

A steel-chested, tow-haired rugged tackle, tipping the scales well over 215 pounds, Bunker made the top team in 1902 as a back. General Douglas MacArthur was manager of the team that year and was Paul's best friend.

Daly, after quarterbacking the '01 team, came back to coach the future Army officers in 1914, '15, '16, and then went to war. He returned to the Hudson in 1919 and remained in charge of pigskin activities for three more years.

Efforts To Buy Bridges Continue

Harrisburg, Dec. 13 (P)—John U. Shroyer, secretary of highways, said Wednesday he is continuing negotiations with owners of toll bridges with a view of buying and freeing them in spite of a suit aimed at halting such purchases.

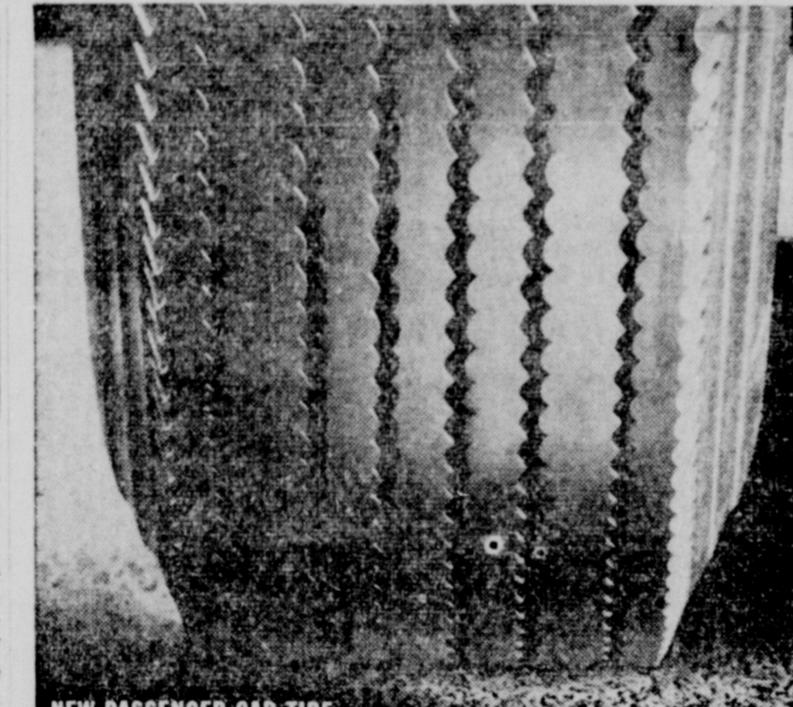

The action brought in the Dauphin county court last week by the Peoples Bridge company of Harrisburg, asked the court to ascertain whether $7,000,000 allocated from the motor fund for such purchases is adequate to buy the ten privately-owned spans in the state.

The bridge company petitioned the court to restrain the Commonwealth from proceeding with a proposed agreement to buy the Sunbury toll span for $650,000 but sought no immediate injunction. The state has 30 days to file answer.

Shroyer said "I am still hopeful" of reaching agreements with other bridge companies. "I have not stopped because of the suit."

The 1945 Legislature authorized Shroyer, with Governor Martin's approval, to spend up to $7,000,000 to free the bridges.

Since Davis and Blanchard are sophomores, they'll be around again next year cutting the ends and hitting the line. Rival teams have been trying everything in the book to stop them but they don't know

COMING SOON! New B. F. Goodrich Tire That Outwears Prewar Tires

THIS isn't a guess. A new kind of tire has been developed, and tests show that it outwears prewar passenger car tires.

It is made of a new kind of synthetic rubber developed by B. F. Goodrich different from the ordinary synthetic rubber in general use by the tire industry. It helps the new tire last longer—wear better.

The new tire has had more than 2,000 laboratory tests. Taxicab fleets, state police departments and the B. F. Goodrich test fleet have run it 16,800,000 test miles. Not only does it give longer tread wear than pre-war tires, but it has more resistance to bruising or damage from accident.

A new, slightly different shaped tread—we call it the "road level" tread—is another feature that means longer wear. Engineers had wished for years to make a tread just slightly flatter. But that more desirable shape always set up strains in the tire body, or "carcass," as it is called. B. F. Goodrich designed an entirely new and stronger cotton cord, designed it into a 35% stronger carcass that stands all these strains and permits the use of the new flatter, longer-wearing tread.

The tread design is new. It is made up of hundreds of skid-resisting curves for quicker stops, safer starts and safer driving.

In a few weeks these new tires will begin to be produced in large volume, but supplies may be limited for quite a while. We have placed our order, and hope to have our shipment shortly. Watch for our announcement. And in the meantime, take good care of the tires you have—make them last until you can replace them with these new, better B. F. Goodrich Silverwheels.

Promise No Strike To Be Called In '45

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (P)—With the NLRB strike vote of 270,000 members of the CIO—United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers only two days away, union officials announced Tuesday night there "will be no strike authorized" in 1945.

The companies affected are Westinghouse Electric corporation, General Motors Electrical Division, and the General Electric company.

Simultaneously, W. G. Marshall, vice president of Westinghouse, answered a War Labor Board recommendation that the company iron out "unreasonable wage rate differentials" between men and women workers and "inequalities between particular job classifications."

Marshall said the company on May 31, 1942, granted 5 1/2-cent hourly raises to men and 7 1/2-cent raises to women to "reduce any differential that might exist."

The 25,000 civilian airplanes in the U. S. in 1941 represented one plane for every 5,200 people.

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 26
(Tuesday 7:45 a. m. to 9:05 a. m.)
Doctor Wandell stopped talking as Grace came in, sullen and silent as the overhanging fog. Her hair was neat and striking as always but she had little makeup on and her face looked haggard. She spoke to no one, going directly to the corner seat behind the globe cocktail table and slumping down on the small of her back.

Isaac Steinway and Virginia Jarvis appeared at the same time, the columnist still in evening clothes.

"I suppose you were staying up to see the sunrise, Ike," Virginia said. "That is if the sun is rising."

"It's shocking," agreed the columnist.

Julia had been moving toward them and before she could answer Frank joined the group and greeted them solemnly.

"Must be a round-up," Virginia put her arm through Frank's possessively.

Sounds in the hall broke off the conversation and the Inspector came in with two of his men. Venable's face was set in grim lines as he looked over the assembly.

"Sit down, everybody" he commanded and silently they found seats in the west end of the big room.

"Where's Moore?" repeated Frank, this time to the Inspector. "He's in this, too."

Julia again had the same sensation she had experienced when Alma had spoken last night. Her heart seemed not to beat at all as Venable looked from one to the other. She followed his glance and saw only questioning interest in the faces of all but Grace who maintained her sullen indifference.

"Moore is gone," he said at last. "He doped the coffee for the guard and got out."

"Then he must be the one you're looking for, Inspector," Steinway protested.

"We'll find him. In the meantime every person here must exercise every care for his personal safety. Each of you has a guard and think of him as that. A lot of our trouble has come from the playful tricks you have used to elude the men who are supposed to protect you. Only the murderer has anything to fear from the police. That is all, except that I want to see each one privately before he leaves. Mrs. Baker will you come in the library?"

Julia followed him through the foyer and behind them came the stenographer with the horn rimmed glasses and another man who closed the door behind him and stood by it.

Venable turned to her quickly. "You didn't tell them about Moore?"

"I didn't have time."

"I had intended to talk to you all together but when I realized they didn't know—or were pretending they didn't—I changed my mind."

Three Pedestrians Killed By Autos

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13 (P)—Automobiles killed three pedestrians yesterday in Western Pennsylvania.

Arthur D. Young 7, was struck and fatally injured not far from his home in Elizabeth Township, Allegheny county; John Fleck, 11, near his West Decatur home in Clearfield county; and Herbert Shillito, 60, of near Emlenton, at Emlenton.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes which help purify the blood and keep you healthy. When you get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations are symptoms of kidney trouble with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits no matter to remain in your blood, it may give you aches and pains in the joints, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Do you feel Ask your druggist for Dogn's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Dogn's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Dogn's Pills.

He smiled at her. "I never believed you were but you managed to act the part so convincingly that I decided you knew who was. I thought I could frighten you into telling me but you don't scare easily. The one time I was sincere, you scared me."

"I didn't trust any one—least of all you."

"Will you trust me now?"

"Yes," she said simply and leaned back in the chair.

The Inspector nodded to the stenographer and he came over and sat behind the desk. Julia began back at the time she had seen Robey with the woman in the red hat. When she hesitated Venable guided her with questions. She told about the first night when she had been struck down and had been carried, unconscious, to her bed.

"Didn't you realize not telling that kept you in the suspect list? Don't you see that is what the killer wanted?"

"I told Doctor Wandell and we agreed it wouldn't matter—that Virginia gave me an alibi. Then when Jerry told me about Hank he said we'd better keep silent about it.

Venable turned to her quickly. "You didn't tell them about Moore?"

"I didn't have time."

"I had intended to talk to you all together but when I realized they didn't know—or were pretending they didn't—I changed my mind."
